Apr 3, 2020

Dear colleagues,

As you probably already know, we had to postpone the IAU Symposium 362 due to severe situation with the COVID-19 virus. The new dates for the symposium are June 7-11, 2021, keeping the same venue in Chamonix, France. All the relevant information, including new deadlines for abstract submission etc., will be posted on the symposium web-site (<http://iaus362.astro.unistra.fr/IAUS362.html>) closer to the end of this year. If you have any questions regarding current status of your registration and payments, please, contact Maud Ravanel (Chamonix Congress Office), maud.ravanel@chamonix.com. Other questions may still be sent to S362.iau@gmail.com.

We remind that you can use the Commission B1 newsletter to advertise any activity that can support our community during and after the pandemic. We also invite you to submit abstracts of your works. All the needed information, including contacts, can be found on the Commission web-page at https://www.iau.org/science/scientific\_bodies/commissions/B1/

Yours sincerely,

Members of the IAU Commission B1 Organizing Committee
